

MISSION 16-34: LAUNCH, LAND, IMPACT

INTRODUCTION

Mission 16-34: Launch, Land, Impact is the fourth edition of DCM's industry-leading Building Box Office Brands series. Created in partnership with independent insight and strategy agency Differentology, the study explores the different roles that AV media play in the lives of young people and how cinema helps brands launch and land their messages with impact.

THE 16-34 AUDIENCE

THE CHALLENGE

THE MISSION

Kantar Millward Brown's AdReaction study found that cinema is the ad format that 16-34s are most positive towards so DCM's mission was to better understand this audience, their AV habits and the implications for brands.

LAUNCH YOUR CAMPAIGN WITH CINEMA

Cinema delivers cultural moments.

The 16-week theatrical exclusivity window for cinema means that the big screen is still able to deliver big cultural moments that brands can take advantage of. Over half of 16-34s agree that they "don't like missing out on things other people are talking about" so they're quick to see the latest blockbusters to ensure they can be part of the wider conversation. This is perfect for brands looking to launch campaigns and reach an engaged, young audience.

LAND YOUR MESSAGE IN THE BEST ENVIRONMENT

Cinema occupies a unique position within AV.

The research shows that different AV channels are chosen either with 'active intent' or 'inactive intent' with some platforms delivering both at different times. Cinema occupies a unique position within the AV mix as the only fully 'active' channel – it's a destination experience where 16-34s have actively planned to pay attention. This makes cinema the best environment for brands to land their campaigns – with an audience that is engaged and attentive.

One thousand 16-34s were asked to select descriptions they most associated with viewing AV content. These are the top three per channel...

LAND - CONTINUED

Respondents were asked to rank from 1-5 the different AV platforms as 'premium' and 'trustworthy' with cinema ranking first most often across both measures. Brands advertising in cinema also benefit from a halo effect with cinema ads being ranked first at making 16-34s feel most positive towards a brand.
